

Please join us for a panel discussion and teleconference

HOW TO USE THE NEW DEFEND TRADE SECRETS ACT (DTSA) TO PROTECT YOUR INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY AND COMPETITIVE EDGE

October 6, 2016 • 10:00 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. (EDT)
National Association of Manufacturers
733 10th ST, NW, STE 700 • Washington, DC 20001

About: With the enactment of the Defend Trade Secrets Act (“DTSA”) earlier this year, manufacturers now have a new tool to protect and enforce their trade secrets. But what does the passage of the DTSA mean for manufacturers? What provisions does the new law provide? What steps do companies need to take to prevent trade secret theft? During this hour-long program, a panel of legal and policy experts will address these questions and provide tips and strategies to help manufacturers maintain and grow their competitive edge.

Meet the Panel

Richard Rainey
Partner, Covington & Burling, LLP
Washington, D.C.

Aaron Cooper
Vice President, Strategic
Policy Initiatives, BSA |
The Software Alliance
Washington, D.C.

Andrew Sherman
Partner, Partner, Seyfarth
Shaw LLP,
Washington, D.C.

Julian Grijns
Managing Director,
Business Intelligence and Investigations, Kroll
New York, N.Y.

Opening remarks by NAJI Chair:

Nicole Y. Lamb-Hale

Managing Director, Kroll & former Asst. Secretary for Manufacturing & Services, Department of Commerce, ITA
Washington, D.C.

Moderated by:

Brian Raymond

Director, Innovation Policy
National Association of Manufacturers (NAM)
Washington, D.C.

Register today! <https://namissvr.nam.org/minisites/Meetings/Registration.aspx?MTG=IIHR20161006>